LIQUID SMOKE

Natural Smoke Flavor

TYPICAL APPLICATIONS

LIQUID SMOKE is produced from a select stock of East Coast Smoky Mountain Hickory tree wood using the latest technology available in the industry. The rich flavor and aroma of hickory wood smoke is captured in our product for your use and enjoyment.

LIQUID SMOKE enjoys very wide use in the United States and abroad as a preferred alternative to conventional smoking methods. LIQUID SMOKE allows the processor to achieve that natural hickory smoked flavor far faster and safer. Either the smokehouse atomization or flooding method is ideal for providing uniform color and flavor to all types of processed meats, fish, and seafood.

LIQUID SMOKE is also superior as a flavoring for potato chips, hot dogs, nuts, snacks, canned pet foods, extruded feed and pet treats, rawhide dog toys and meat jerky.

LIQUID SMOKE is by nature an acidic liquid containing a surprising number of beneficial organic acids and important trace minerals. These materials impart significant nutritional value to the foods in which they are added. LIQUID SMOKE has also demonstrated an ability to suppress mold formation in animal feeds.

MICROBIOLOGICAL

LIQUID SMOKE is free from pathogens, including E. coli, Salmonella and coagulase-positive.

RECOMMENDED SHELF-LIFE

The shelf-life of LIQUID SMOKE is one year when stored under cool conditions (45 to 75°F).

All shipments conform to the latest requirements of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act and its amendments.
